

Jack Weiss, President and Owner

Jack has proven himself a master of consistency in all areas of restaurant operations thanks to a business background, a knack for details and a simple ease in dealing with people. He introduced Chicago to Tuscan inspired cuisine with Coco Pazzo. The beautiful setting coupled with the impeccable seasonal menus, have earned him notoriety from the Italian government and Chicago critics alike for years. With the success of his flagship restaurant, he opened a more casual cousin, Coco Pazzo Café, in 1996. In 2017, Jack moved the neighborhood favorite from its original location to the space occupied by his Roman inspired restaurant Tre Soldi around the corner.
